

"We Service What We Sell."

Ehwha Glotech was originally established in 1957 as Ilshin Machinery Company. In 1985 they changed their name to Ehwha Machinery MFG. Co. LTD specializing in the design and manufacture of stenter frames, curing ovens and relax dryers. In 1999 they were awarded two distinguished awards: "Excellent Technology Company" and designated as a 20th century 100 Technology Leading Company by the Ministry of Commerce, Industry and Energy of Korea. Ehwha is now known as Ehwha Glotech and is dedicated only to the development and manufacturing of stenter frames. Ehwha's commitment to continuous technical research and development is reflected in customer growth and success.

Ehwha's vision for the 21st century is to bring a world wide technological revolution in stenter frame design with customer satisfaction their top priority. Customer satisfaction is achieved by establishing quality production, advanced technology, timely deliveries, and quick and effective after sales service and support. This commitment is demonstrated in the new Platinum PT653 stenter frame. The new PT653 has been developed with more advanced technology, environment-friendly systems, better ergonomic designs and more focus on energy conservation and productivity. Recent developments in more efficient air distribution systems offering uniform temperature as well as optimization of wind speed insure more efficient drying and improved heat setting quality. The new Parallel Flow exhaust system offers reduced energy consumption giving an overall energy savings of approx. 15-30%. This new system also offers a substantial reduction in air pollution. Ehwha also offers the latest technology in PC/PLC machine control and process management.

With more than 100 machines now running in the U.S., the Ehwha stenter frame has proven to be the most efficient and reliable system. Couple this with their and Zimmer America's commitment to after sales service and support along with this same commitment on the part of Zimmer America and you have a winning combination that will be well received by our customers for many years to come.
